The Vastness of New York

A City With More Inhabitants Than Many of the States

HOTEL LIFE AND THE ST. REGIS

New York City is the metropolis of the Western World. Within its restricted area resides a population exceeding by nearly a million and a quarter the total population of the entire State of Texas. The density of New York's population, the volume and extended character of its business transactions, and the magnitude of its amusement enterprises and social functions, have made hotel life here a necessity. With the greater city has grown up a new race of public houses. The modern hotels of New York surpass the world in their size, their elegance of appointment and the character of their service. They supply every want, they even anticipate every wish. There is one hotel in New York, with every feature of its construction, its furnishings, its equipment, its management, its cuisine and its service equal to the most famous hotels of the world, which has succeeded in incorporating and retaining the "home atmosphere" in its regime. This hotel is the St. Regis, situated on Fifth Avenue at Fifty-fifth Street. With all its luxury and home refinements, it is by no means the highest priced. Splendid single rooms are obtainable for $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are from $12 a day upward. The restaurant, however, is no higher than those of other first-class hotels.

posals of the public, to which the social public will be invited. Lunch will be served on the Centre Hill grounds, after which the President and other distinguished men will speak. Following this a lawn party will be given on the spacious grounds in honor of President and Mrs. Taft, when they will receive the public in general. The grounds, of course, will be brilliantly illuminated. The coming of President and Mrs. Taft is recognized universally as one of the most important events in the city's annals, and the reception in their honor is to be of a most cordial and elaborate character, and it will be genuine in its spirit of welcome. President Taft will be the first Chief Executive of the United States to visit Petersburg socially and to spend a day with our people since the war. President Lincoln spent part of a day here with General Grant immediately after the evacuation of the city in April 1865.

1865, but he was not seen by the people. Later, in the hottest days of reconstruction, President Andrew Johnson spent a day as a guest at Jarrett Hotel. This was a strictly business visit, and though he was called upon by many leading citizens, his visit in no wise partook of social aspect. President Cleveland, on his hunting trips to the South, several times passed through Petersburg, as did also President Harrison, but they were practically invisible in their private cars. The citizens' meeting last night appointed a number of committees to look after the different features of the reception and entertainment of President Taft, and these committees are now promptly to work. Among other guests of the city will be Governor Swanson, of Virginia, and Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania, both of whom with the President, will speak at the unveiling of the monument.

Rev. Charles B. Richards, who recently resigned the pastoral charge of the Washington Street Christian Church, in this city, after a faithful and highly advantageous service of six years or more, has accepted a call to Matthews, N. C., where he will be inducted into the pastorate May 1. Mr. Richards' new charge will embrace three churches—Oak Grove, Holly Grove and West Matthews. Matthews county and all long established and influential churches. Mr. Richards, during his tenure of office, has been secretary of that association, and as such has rendered valuable service in the work of relieving the worthy and needy poor of the city. He has resigned that office, to take effect May 1. During Mr. Richards' pastorate here, a very handsome and large church edifice has been erected by the congregation on Washington Street, and the membership of the church and Sunday school has been largely increased.

It is expected that at the meeting of the board of directors of the Virginia National Bank to-morrow a successor to the late Augustus Wright, president of the bank, will be elected. It is believed that Bartlett Roper, Sr., vice-president of the bank, will be elected to the presidency. In the Hastings Court to-day, Montgomery Davis, colored, was placed on trial for the murder of a woman with unlawfully dealing in cocaine. The case has been on the docket for several terms, having been for one house or another continued. He was defended to-day by Robert Gilliam, Jr. The jury being unable to agree on a verdict, was discharged, and the case again continued. The defendant, who the jurors stood eight for conviction, three for acquittal and one doubtful.

Mrs. Eginora M. Lewis, wife of E. B. Lewis, died at her residence on Pine Street, this afternoon, at 1:40 o'clock, after an illness of three weeks' duration. She is survived by her husband, three daughters and a son. The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 11:20 o'clock in Blandford Cemetery. Mrs. Lewis was a consistent Christian and member of the Street Methodist Church, and was highly esteemed.

Mrs. Dora E. Schenck, widow of Benjamin B. Schenck, of Dinwiddie county, died last night in the Petersburg Hospital. Mrs. Schenck was seventy-two years old and survived her husband a few days.

The guests of the Chesterfield Hotel were removed to-day to the Hotel on account of the dust caused by the removal of the debris of the fallen annex and the James building.

MR. SUMMERS RETICENT.

Has Not Made Up His Mind as to Race for Governor.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

BRISTOL, Va., April 20.—When asked to-day for an interview relative to the report that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the governorship of Virginia, L. P. Summers, colored, of Bristol, said that he had really not made up his mind to be a candidate. "I would much prefer," he said, "that I should be a slave or some other Republican make the race."

While Mr. Summers was disposed to be reticent as to the prospects for himself becoming a candidate, it is plain that he will not shrink any duty which his party may place upon him. His attitude means that while he is not seeking the nomination, he would most likely respond favorably to a general demand on the part of his party that he become its standard-bearer this fall. So far as has been learned here, Mr. Summers has not expressed a willingness to make the race.

His address was well received by the Brunswick people. Then came Judge Tucker, who in a fifteen-minute speech, presenting his claims for the lieutenant-governorship, was warmly greeted by the audience. He stated that he had thought the whiskey men of Richmond, Norfolk and Alexandria were for Judge Mann.

Mr. Tucker was followed by Judge Williams, candidate for Attorney-General, who was warmly greeted. This was not the first time Judge Williams had been on the hustings before the people of Brunswick.

Hon. Francis Rivers Lassiter was also present, but did not make an address.

Henry, formerly a fireman in the Norfolk and Western Railroad, in Corporation Court on appeal from a $100 fine since yesterday, was concluded late this afternoon, when the jury returned a verdict finding him guilty of selling liquor in violation of the Byrd law. The most damaging evidence was given by Det. William E. Payne and Andrew Bricker, a negro, Walter Montgomery, the latter testifying that he frequently bought liquor from Henry, who sold it to him in small quantities. After Payne had locked the whiskey in his satchel some time ago, he was taken to the satchel open, carried off the liquor and left an empty bottle in its place. ENDS SENTENCE; IS REARRESTED

T. M. Angle Is Brought from Federal Prison at Atlanta to Danville.

CASE IS NOW PENDING

Former Distillery Man Who Has Figured Largely in Fraud Cases.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

DANVILLE, Va., April 20.—T. M. Angle, former president of the Dry Fork Distilling Company, Incorporated, who for a number of years has figured prominently in trials both in Virginia and North Carolina for defrauding the government out of large sums of money in revenue taxes on whiskey, is in the city, having been brought here to-day from the Federal prison in Atlanta, Ga., where he has just completed a thirteen months' sentence for revenue frauds in North Carolina. Angle was rearrested immediately upon being released to give bond for a case now pending against him in the Circuit Court of Appeals of Virginia. Angle was tried here last spring and convicted. He was fined $15,000 and sentenced to four years in prison. At the time of his trial he was out on bond pending an appeal in a similar case in North Carolina, where the decision was affirmed. While out on a $20,000 bond from this State he was sentenced at Greensboro, N. C., where he was reduced on account of good conduct.

Wide Interest in Case.

The trial of Angle here last year attracted widespread attention, and lasted for several weeks. The government alleged frauds to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars, an investigation of the affairs of the distillery showing an enormous amount of excess spirits over that reported to the government as manufactured. Angle was represented by a number of the most prominent lawyers of Virginia and North Carolina, among them being Judge Spencer B. Eaves, Judge Bynum, former Assistant United States Attorney Britt and Attorneys Peatross and Harris.

Angle will probably be fixed to-morrow in the Federal court here. One of the attorneys in the case to-day stated that he had semi-official information that the Court of Appeals would reverse the decision. Appeal was taken on the grounds that the indictment on which Angle was convicted was improperly returned, in that it was handed to the clerk by the foreman and not read in open court.

Cases are now pending against various government officials, storekeepers and gaugers connected with the distillery at the time of the alleged frauds, charging them with collusion and conspiracy.

Plenty Guilty.

James T. Steele, of Johnson City, Tenn., pleaded guilty in the United States Court here to-day, Judge McCreary presiding, to committing frauds on the pension department. He was sentenced to a year and one day in the Federal prison at Atlanta. Steele served in the Spanish-American War.
